

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an image processing apparatus, a controller infers a color space of image data that is to be processed, and performs a prescribed processing to the image data on the basis of information indicating the inferred color space.